

Thursday, July 31st

Kahli played for us during the hour before dinner.

Here we are at the outstrrreeetttccchhed table for dinner.

The culinary options: pork chops, chicken Kiev, fish, T bone steak...yum.

Baseball practice at Ngateu!

Saturday, August 2nd

We were invited to a Hindu wedding reception for the son and daughter-in-law of friends of Mary and David. Aren't they both beautiful! His mother, Frieda, cooked a full vegetarian meal for the reception. They had invited us (16) + Elizabeth and Christine + 8 family friends. We ate outside in the front yard which was decorated in twinkle lights and flowers.

Sunday, August 3rd

Bright and early we walked to church at Ngateu. The pastor asked David and all of us to give a greeting.

After church we went to eat brunch at River House, a place where persons with disabilities create beautiful glass creations, jewelry, textiles, etc. to sell in stores all over the world. Here are some picture of their work and some of us enjoying lunch.

Lisha models the hats available to purchase at the store and Ben is pondering how many glasses all the women will want to purchase. We loved the glasses because they are a little "wonky", just like us!
